The Reformation: A History of European Civilization from Wyclif to Calvin, 1300-1564 (The Story of Civilization Part VI) Will Durant

The prospective reader deserves a friendly notice that the The Reformation is not quite an honest title for this book. An accurate title would be: "A History of European Civilization Outside of Italy from 1300 to 1564, or Thereabouts, Including the History of Religion in Italy and an Incidental View of Islamic and Judaic Civilization in Europe, Africa, and Western Asia." Why so meandering a thematic frontier? Because Volume IV (The Age of Faith) in this "Story of Civilization" brought European history only to 1300, and Volume V (The Renaissance) confined itself to Italy, 1304-1576, deferring the Italian echoes of the Reformation. So this Volume VI must begin at 1300; and the reader will be amused to find that Luther arrives on the scene only after a third of the tale has been told. But let us privately agree that the Reformation really began with John Wyclif and Louis of Bavaria in the fourteenth century, progressed with John Huss in the fifteenth, and culminated explosively in the sixteenth with the reckless monk of Wittenberg.
