There have been at different periods special temporary courses of instruction or private schools, with the teachers paid by subscription, generally in the winter season, intended chiefly for the youth of both sexes requiring instruction somewhat more advanced than the teaching with district schools. Mrs. H. G. Dickerman for many years conducted a select school for both sexes in Mt. Carmel, and many Hamden teachers graduated from that school. A select school is still conducted there by Miss Emma Dickerman. A boarding school for boys was founded at Centerville by the late Rev. Charles W. Everest, and is known as the Rectory School. THE RECTORY SCHOOL. REV. H. L. EVEREST. The Rectory School, for more than twenty-five years one of the foremost military boarding schools in this country, was established in the year 1843. It was commenced by Rev. Charles William Everest owing to the inadequate support which he received as rector of Grace Church, Hamden. Mr. Everest, who was then living in the house north of the "Corners," at Centerville, opened his school with only four pupils. During this year, other boys having been entered in the school, Mr. Everest purchased the Deacon Hart property lying a short distance south of the "Corners," on the main street. In May, 1844, he began the erection of the Seminary building which, greatly enla...
